

REVOLT CRUSHED AT VLADIVOSTOCK

PACT MAY COME UP AGAIN IN DECEMBER

PEACE TREATY IS RETURNED TO THE EXECUTIVE HANDS

Pact With Lodge's Reservations is Lost by 39 to 55.

Document With No Change Fails By Vote of 38 to 353

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The fate of the treaty of peace with Germany and the League of Nations, so far as the United States is concerned, today again is in the hands of President Wilson. Failure in some form by the senate brought the situation just where it was six months ago when the pact was submitted to the upper house of congress and technically peace is no nearer than it was on Armistice day more than a year ago.

Decision of the senate last night to lay aside the treaty came after two attempts to ratify it with the foreign relation committee's reservations of any sort, had all failed. The first vote on the treaty with reservations attached showed 39 for and 55 against. The second, which came several hours later showed 41 for and 51 against. The vote on straight ratification recorded only 38 for and 53 against.

With the much debated and much contested document thrust back upon him, the next move is up to the president and today there was no intimation what course he would pursue. In any event, it was not believed there would be any developments until congress reconvenes December 1, in regular session. Opinion as to what may be expected then is divided. Senator Lodge, majority leader, who led the forces opposed to adoption of the treaty as presented, declared that the failure of the ratification last night killed the pact unless President Wilson "circumvented the senate rules" by withdrawing it and then submitting it at the new session next month.

Democratic leaders suggested that the president during the recess might see fit to feel out the other powers as to their attitude on reservations with a view of bringing the treaty to some sort of ratification at the December session. If re-submitted the treaty would come before the senate practically as new business and debate on it would not be governed by the cloture rule invoked in the closing days of the session just adjourned.

Should the president fail to re-submit the pact promptly when congress reassembles it was believed the republican leaders would without delay take up Senator Lodge's resolution introduced last night after the treaty had failed of ratification, proposing that congress declare the war with Germany at an end. The resolution would require concurrence by the house. On this question there also is a division of opinion, democratic leaders holding that a resolution would have to be approved by the president to become effective, and republicans holding that presidential approval would not be necessary.

FEELING IN FRANCE
PARIS, Nov. 20.—While the failure of the American senate to ratify the German treaty has apparently alarmed France, it seems to be not so much as the fear that the United States may not adopt the joint agreement with England for the defense of France, which is uppermost in the minds of all French people.

Fireman Injured At a Hotel Fire

AKRON, O., Nov. 20.—One fireman was injured, several persons narrowly escaped suffocation and the lives of one city patrolman and several firemen were imperiled in a daring rescue of fire-imprisoned victims during a night conflagration that did $30,000 damage to the building occupied by the Boston restaurant and hotel, 609 1/2 South Main street.

Fireman F. O. Flood was overcome by smoke while ascending the stairs to the second floor, to rescue a woman and fell down stairs unconscious. He suffered severe bruises.

OFFER MADE BY MINING OPERATORS

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—An increase in wages of 15 cents per ton and 20 per cent over the existing day scale, to become effective immediately the bituminous coal miners return to work, was offered by the operators at the meeting today of the wage scale committee in the central competitive bituminous field.

In announcing the offer Thomas T. Breyer, chairman of the operators' wage scale committee said the operators had proposed the existing working conditions be continued and that the contract be operative until March 31, 1922.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Resuming negotiations today with a view to settle wage scale in the central competitive coal field, operators and mine workers were hopeful of making progress, committees yesterday got down to actual work after hearing the view of Fuel Administrator H. A. Garfield, and though the production of coal remaining at a standstill in the states of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and part of Pennsylvania adjustment of disputed points was not considered impossible.

The scale committee of the operators remained late in session last night after Acting President John L. Lewis of the mine workers left his session with his party. Today observers looked for operators to present their counter proposal to the miners, who have so far stood pat on their demand for a 60 per cent wage increase and a 30 hour working week.

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—Regional directors of railways today had a free hand in dealing with curtailment of non-essential industries and necessary passenger traffic and extraordinary efforts to conserve and distribute the nation's steadily diminishing coal supply were being made. Under that authority, granted by Walker D. Hines, federal Director General of railroads, after a two days conference with the seven regional directors, the entire south, east of the Mississippi and south of the Ohio rivers. Except for a small area in the Pocahontas region today had been placed on a war-time ration basis and annulment of trains in addition to the 146 already off was under consideration.

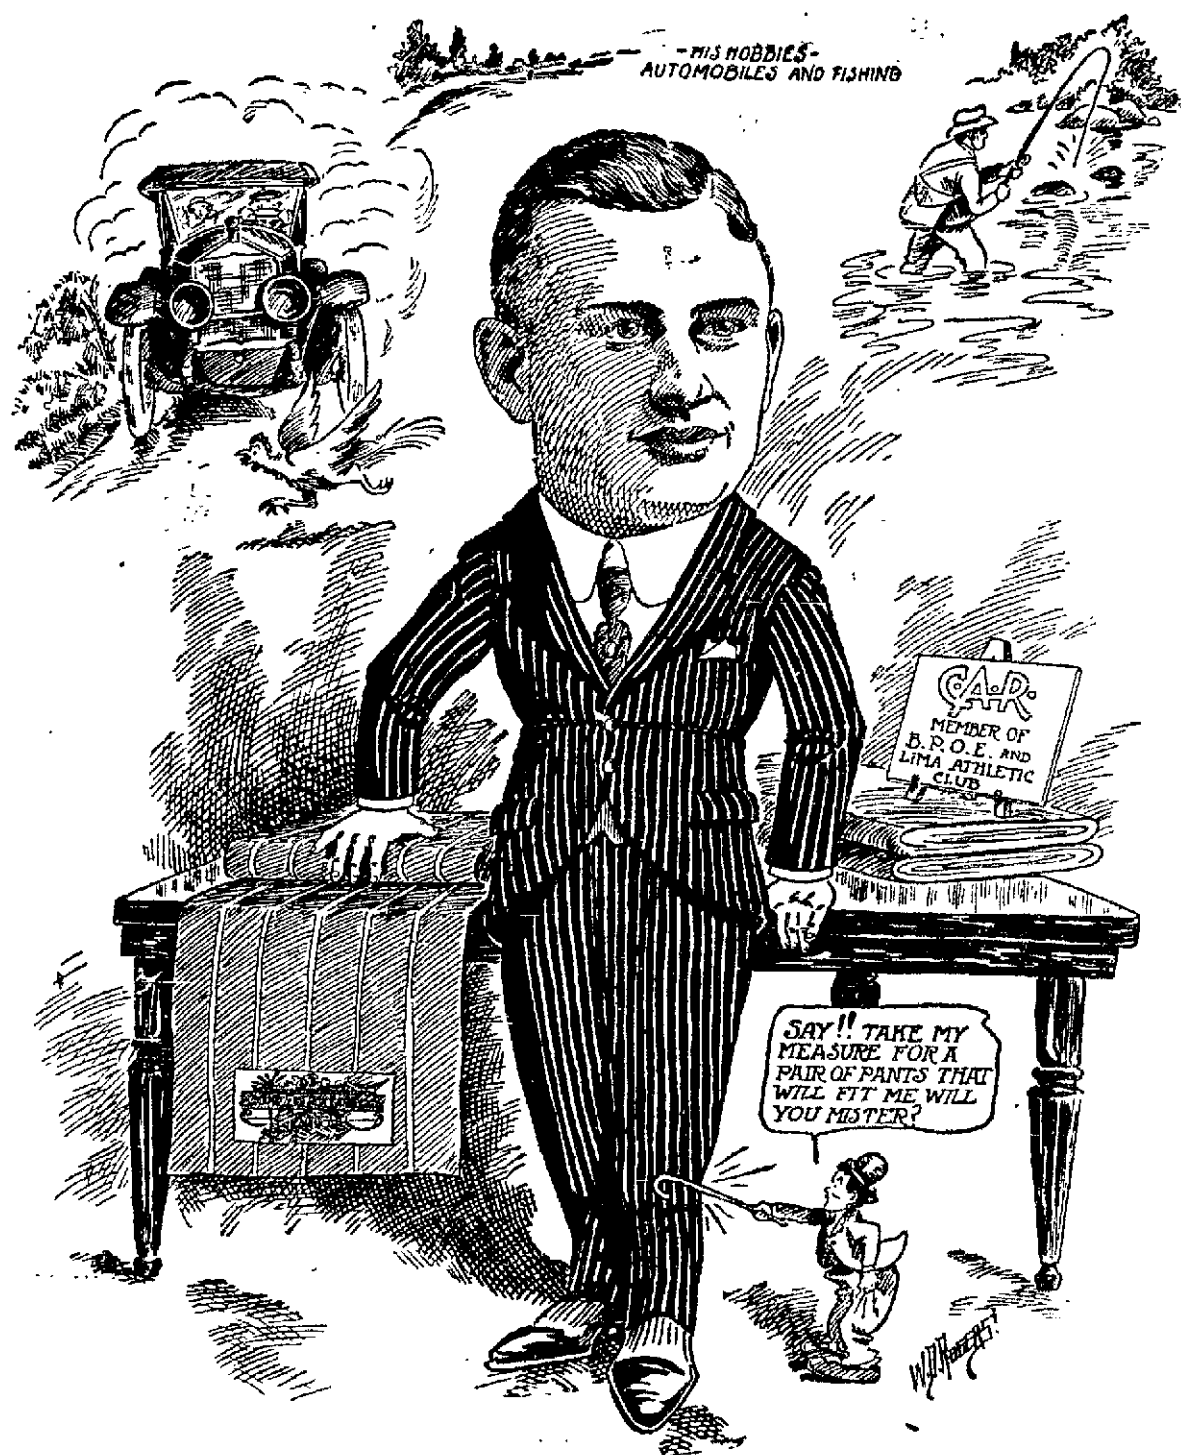

U. S. High Court Hears Appeals on Prohibition

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The supreme court was asked today to determine the constitutionality of the war-time prohibition act as well as the Volstead prohibition enforcement act during arguments in appeals brought to test congress' right to prohibit the manufacture and sale of intoxicants.

While many conflicting decisions have been rendered in various parts of the country upon the question, today's arguments involved only three cases, from Kentucky in which the war-time act was declared unconstitutional and two from New York in which the authority of congress not only to make the country dry, but to enforce it, was sustained.

Failure of the senate to ratify the treaty of Versailles was regarded by attorneys in the cases as only complicating the situation because of the delay in the determination of the technical state of war, but the court's willingness to expedite the cases is regarded by court officials as indicating the court's intention to decide the question with as little delay as possible.

PRESIDENT WILSON HAS NO STATEMENT AS TO THE TREATY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—President Wilson will have no statement to make on the failure of the senate to ratify the treaty of Versailles, it was said today at the White House.

Senators Hitchcock, of Nebraska, the administration leader and Underwood, of Alabama, called at the White House during the morning, but did not see Secretary Tamm, who was with the president on the south lawn. They took a philosophical view of the action of the senate.

"Democratic leadership played its cards to the limit and for all they were worth and lost—that's all," said Senator Underwood.

"As long as the treaty is not dead, there is something to be joyful about," Senator Hitchcock said. The president has considered the possibility of negotiating a new treaty in the event of the rejection of the present treaty, administration officials said, but he virtually has rejected that alternative as impracticable and now probably will take up with the principal signatories what compromise reservations would be acceptable to them.

Senator Hitchcock said he expected the president, upon the convening of congress December 1, to withdraw the treaty and later re-submit it, possibly with suggestions for acceptable reservations. Administration leaders in the senate also are known to be considering negotiations of compromises with the mild reservation republicans, but no active moves toward compromise negotiations are planned until congress reconvenes.

BANDIT WIRES THANKS.
CASPER, Wyo., Nov. 20.—William Carlisle, train bandit, walked into the Western Union office here today while scores of heavily armed men searched the surrounding country for him and sent a telegram to the Union Pacific Railroad officers in Cheyenne, thanking the railroad for the money he secured from passengers on the Los Angeles limited train which he held up near Medicine Bow, Tuesday night.

PREXY THOMPSON TO RETIRE.
HAMILTON, Nov. 20.—Dr. W. O. Thompson, president of Ohio State University, has given notice he will retire from the presidency of that institution at the end of this collegiate year.

NATION WIDE BOMB PLOT DISCOVERED

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 20.—Investigations into the activities of local radicals were given added impetus here today as the result of a warning issued yesterday by James Robinson, superintendent of the Philadelphia police, that local detectives have discovered a plot launched by radicals in this city to spread terror throughout the country at Christmas time. According to his information, the superintendent said it is planned to send national, state and city officials through the mails death bombs wrapped in packages to resemble Christmas presents.

Superintendent Robinson said members of the police bomb squad unearthed the supposed plot in the course of investigations of radical activities here.

Details of the supposed plot have been sent to government officials in Washington and to Chief of Police Quigley of Rochester, N. Y., who is chairman of the board of governors of the national bureau of criminal identification.

Evidence of the existence of a plot came to Superintendent Robinson by Andrew Emanuel, head of the "bomb squad," who said he unearthed it during his investigation of radical activities here.

Information was checked up and verified, according to Emanuel. The source of information was withheld carefully by the police. It is believed to have originated from an Anarchist "squealer" who was afraid of the consequences of the plot.

A memorandum issued by the Bureau of Police, announcing discovery of the plot, is as follows: "Superintendent of Police Robinson is in possession of reliable information that members of certain radical organizations, with headquarters in the principal cities in the United States, are preparing to send out, prior to and during the Christmas holidays, packages of neat appearance, which probably would be considered as Christmas gifts by the persons who receive them, to United States Government officials and officials of states and

WILSON CALLS A NEW INDUSTRIAL COUNCIL SESSION

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—President Wilson today appointed a new industrial conference and called it into session here December 1.

The conference will be composed of seventeen men, including government officials, business men and former members of the cabinet and former governors of states and it will carry on the work undertaken by the national industrial conference which foundered on the rock of collective bargaining.

The personnel of the conference follows: Secretary of Labor Wilson; former United States Attorney Generalis Thomas W. Gregory and George W. Wickersham; former Food Administrator Herbert C. Hoover; former Secretary of Commerce Oscar S. Straus; Henry M. Robinson, Pasadena, Calif.; Professor Frank W. Taussig, former chairman of the tariff commission; former Governor Daniel W. McCall of Massachusetts; former Governors Barth H. Glynn of New York and Henry C. Stuart of Virginia; Dr. W. O. Thompson, president Ohio State University; Richard Hooker, Springfield, Mass.; George T. Slade, St. Paul; Julius Rosenwald, Chicago; Owen D. Young, of New York City; H. J. Waters of Manhattan, Kansas, and Stanley King of Boston.

STILL OUT IN KENTUCKY
LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 20.—Nearly 41,000 coal miners in Kentucky are out, according to Dr. C. J. Norwood, state inspector of mines, here today. In some districts, according to reports to him, some miners will return to work and others go out, while still others hesitate to return to work because official orders calling off the strike have not been received from the United Mine Workers' headquarters.

Radicals say that when the officials receive and open the packages they will be surprised greatly, as an explosion will result.

Dakota Mines Seizure Taken to The State Court

BISMARCK, N. D., Nov. 20.—The controversy over the lignite coal mines of North Dakota which Governor Lynn J. Frazier recently took over in the name of the state, when operators and miners became deadlocked over the question of wages, it appeared today would be taken to the state supreme court for settlement. Governor Frazier's action in taking over the mines was sharply criticised yesterday by District Judge W. L. Nuessle, who issued an order requiring state officials to return, by Monday afternoon, to the Washburn Lignite Company, the mining properties of that company at Wilton.

SENATE FAILURE AFFECTS TRADE WITH GERMANY

WASHINGTON, November 20.—Although not changing technically the existing status of relations between the United States and Germany, the senate's failure to ratify the peace treaty at its special session is expected by administration officials and diplomats to have an indirect result of some importance on the steps now being taken to restore the world to a peace basis.

One of the first consequences, according to the view taken here, is likely to be the hastening of the negotiations in Paris, including promulgation of the peace verbatim, which will restore full commercial and diplomatic relations between Germany and the powers which have ratified the treaty. Paris dispatches have said this step was waiting, for one thing, on the action of the senate, but it is thought there will be no further delay now for that reason.

The new congress will meet on December 1, but not even the most ardent supporters of the treaty believe it would be possible to take it up again at the outset of the session. The Christmas recess was expected to intervene before much could be accomplished, with the result that a clear field for treaty consideration would not be opened before January at the earliest.

Once the other great powers have gone ahead with their establishment of full trade and diplomatic relations with Germany, officials say new arrangements will have to be made by the United States to fit into the commercial scheme thus created whatever trade the United States has with the central powers.

At the present the war arrangement by which Spain is taking care of American interests in Germany continues in force, and that is not expected to be disturbed. The rationing of supplies of various sorts to Germany must begin under the treaty terms, however, and the powerful reparations commission will be set up to determine all the details of Germany's commercial intercourse with other nations.

Sued For $10,000—Jury Was Out More Than Twenty Hours.

The jury in the $10,000 breach of promise suit of Bernice Washburn against C. Mitchell Durbin, merchant of Harrod returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff at 2:30 Wednesday afternoon after a deliberation of over 20 hours of $39.08.

The case went to the jury Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 and the jury was dismissed for the night after being unable to reach a verdict at 9:30. They reassembled at 8:30 Thursday morning.

BURN RED PAPERS
COVINGTON, Ky., Nov. 20.—A delegation of former service men late last night burned a large bundle of socialist literature in front of the headquarters of the socialist party here. Among the papers burned, it is said, were copies of a socialist paper printed in Dayton, Ohio. The police say that a negro boy obtained the bundle last Tuesday from the office of the American Railway Express Company.

SIBERIAN UPRISING QUELLED

American Soldiers on Duty in the City of Vladivostock

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH)
VLADIVOSTOK, Nov. 20.—Revolutionary forces which for the last two days have attempted to obtain control of this city were completely defeated by government troops in a battle which was commenced before dawn. General Galda, the revolutionary leader was wounded and captured and his followers were driven from every point of vantage by government troops.

Shortly after midnight the government troops moved two 3-inch field guns into position at the Svellandskaia bridge, by which this main thoroughfare of the city crosses the Siberian railroad. The bridge is only 500 yards north of the station, the strongest position of the rebels. A little later, troops reinforced by 100 cadets from the naval training school, proceeded to the business center of the city, while armored cars began arriving at the bridge.

Before the battle opened international policemen and three American soldiers gained entrance to the railway station, from which they took two Russian women who had been marooned there since the fighting started. At 1 o'clock there was a burst of machine gun fire against rebels holding the railway yards and gunboats started to drop shells on the station.

Some of the shells set fire to the barracks of the American replacement battalion.

Fire was opened at 4 o'clock on the station from field guns stationed at the Svellandskaia bridge, which had a clear field of fire. Later the fighting became general with the revolutionists falling back everywhere and finally being driven from the station.

Monday morning at 8 o'clock the social revolutionary Zemstvo group proclaimed a new democratic representative government.

At 2 o'clock Monday afternoon the opposing forces clashed in a savage battle for the possession of the railway station, approximately 5,000 rifle and machine gun shots being fired before nightfall. Government forces under General Rozanoff held the entire town with the exception of the immediate vicinity of the station.

Allied troops patrolled the city, with American troops protecting American organizations. The United States cruisers New Orleans and Brooklyn, under command of Vice Admiral Rodgers, are lying in the harbor.

Hundreds are on the Trail of Lone Bandit

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Nov. 20.—Armed men ready to leave on special trains on 10 minutes' notice today awaited the next move of William L. Carlisle, notorious bandit, who robbed passengers on a Union Pacific train Tuesday night, near Medicine Bow and escaped.

Seventy men of the posse of several hundred who looked all day yesterday for the outlaw remained in the vicinity to renew the search for the man who successfully outwitted posses in a hunt extending from last Saturday when he escaped from the state prison at Rawlins. History of the man's exploits leads Union Pacific railroad officials to expect another robbery at any time and guards have been doubled on all trains.

NEW DIPLOMATS MEET AT HAGUE

War Time Representatives
Leave to be Replaced by Peace Ministers.

THE HAGUE.—Strenuous Hague diplomacy of war time is fast undergoing conversion into peace time, dinner table, golf club diplomacy, and representatives of almost every country are being replaced by diplomats who have been in close touch with home political circles and the new post-war policy of their respective countries.

Thus, the recent arrival of the new French minister, Charles Benoît, who it was incorrectly rumored would carry a demand for the extradition of the ex-kaiser in his pocket, inaugurates a peace time metamorphosis. Should demand delivery be made, however, Benoît will undoubtedly be the man to present it. Sir Walter Townley, who was announced in the spring of 1917 as "the iron man" and who was to handle Little Holland with a high hand, has been replaced by Sir Ronald Graham, who has been in the British foreign office for the last few years in an advisory capacity.

New ministers are also arriving for Belgium, Japan and other countries. It is stated on good authority that Germany's strong war diplomat, Dr. Rosen, who replaced the then so-called conciliatory Von Kuhlmann, will now turn be replaced by Count Oberdorff.

Oberdorff belongs to the conservative wing of the German Catholic party and considerable importance is attached to the fact that he married an influential Dutch diplomat's daughter. Thus, Germany will be in a better position to continue spreading her economic tentacles over all her neighbors. Bismarck's saying, "We must have Holland but we can only get it by intermarriage and friendship," is recalled in this connection.

Congress Adjourned Yesterday-All it Really Did!

You've Talked About Ministers; Pastor Speaks Frankly of You

"You ask me about my congregation," said a minister to The Times reported, who, in search of new thrills for this page, had ventured to visit the minister's study, fearing that she would at first be mistaken for one who had blushing come to arrange for his services for a certain date. "Do you want statistics or information?"

The reported stated that what was wanted was impressions. "After eight or ten years' experience with my congregation I probably have some quite definite impressions," replied the minister, "but it is difficult to put them into words. My congregation has so many varied elements in it that everything that I might say would not apply to every sort of people."

"Making reasonable allowances, I should say that my congregation had a considerable degree of patience. They have sat thru countless sermons, good, bad and indifferent and thru various offerings by our quartet to which similar adjectives might be applied, and they seem to be willing to take a chance again the next Sunday."

"My congregation has a good deal of courage but they are not aggressive. They are not afraid of a rainy Sunday, not really afraid of it, but they don't like to appear to boast of their superiority over a little rain. so they give the rain all the sidewalk on a rainy Sunday. There is no unseemly haste to crowd the church when it rains."

"My congregation is generous. The man who had a quarter and a dime in his pocket, and who pulled out the dime when the plate was passed, because he harbored a suspicion that the quarter was Canadian money, does not belong to my congregation. We get a goodly assortment of bills. I have been told that the denomination of the bills in collection varies with the denomination of the church, but I am not sure."

"My congregation likes to sing. Given a good old tune and a little extra flourish on the organ, and even the usually silent sing a mouthful or two. They often give our quartet quite a little race for their laurels. We like the old hymns that have some throb in them, and at least one line that they can linger on with voluminous relish."

"My congregation likes to have a considerable sprinkle of strangers in the pews. It spruces us all up a bit. We are a hospitable lot and our church has plenty of room. We like to shake the stranger by the hand and say "Come again!"

"My congregation likes a short sermon. After half an hour I notice a sort of 'Another late dinner' expression come over their faces and I realize that I might better quit. Some ministers have a method of getting similar to the way some people say 'Good-bye.' They say 'Good-bye' in the parlor and all adjourn to the hall. It takes some time to say 'Good-bye' in the hall, and all move to the front door. The host hesitates to open the door, and the guest does not want to do it abruptly, but finally it is done and all slip thru onto the porch. Here the weather, past, present, and future, gets its share of attention, and finally the visit ends. Sermons that have a long lingering and would wear my congregation to a frazzle."

"My congregation consists of real folks, with high ideals, good motives, great friendliness, and an average amount of human frailty. I have a deep respect for them, and a deep affection, and if they can stand me as I am, I am content to put in a few more years with them, as they are."

GERMANY IS DAZED BY REQUIREMENTS OF ALLIED FORCES

BERLIN.—Germany is fairly dazed by the demands and requirements of the Entente military and naval commissions for the housing of their supervisory forces, which according to the peace treaty, may have their headquarters at the seat of the German government, and place sub-commissions at any desired point in Germany.

The Entente has given notice that it will send a chief commission to Berlin, and ten sub-commissions to other points. It demands, from Berlin, hotel accommodations comprising 500 rooms, housing for 300 non-commissioned officers and men, and garage facilities for 60 automobiles. These are the requirements for the army and naval forces.

For the air forces the Entente wants 200 rooms in a hotel, 100 office rooms, housing for 450 persons, and garage space for 60 automobiles. The figures look large to Germans for guests at all the big hotels even now are happy to be able to creep into a bathroom and snatch some sleep.

The Council of States has decided that the money agreed upon to furnish quarters for the Entente missions, 5,000,000 marks, was not enough. It is, however, rooms, hotels, dwellings, more than money, which is worrying the government. The government has made a beginning by announcing that it will confiscate one hotel which has 185 rooms, and use the building in Wilhelmstrasse, now the headquarters of a press division, for office space.

Another hotel has been confiscated for the air division. That, however, leaves a big gap between what can be supplied and what is demanded. The government may perhaps heed the many suggestions made recently for using various former royal and princely castles, which would relieve the strain on the already overstrained Berlin hotels.

Boy Injured When Truck Overtakes

James Brown, 20, 813 St. Johns avenue, a driver for the Deisel Company, was painfully injured late yesterday afternoon when the truck he was driving overtook, pinning him underneath. Brown was driving on Brice avenue near Collette, when he burst a tire, causing the light truck to over turn. He was taken to the city hospital in the Williams and Davis ambulance, and later removed to his home, when it was found that he was not seriously hurt.

CITY OWNERSHIP IN NEW TOLEDO ST. CAR FRANCHISE

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 20.—Liberal provisions for municipal ownership of the street railway system here will be embodied in the cost of service franchise that will be submitted to the people as one basis for the traction dispute. Such is the intention as announced today by Mayor Cornell Schreiber. The city executive added that the provisions in the ordinance should be even broader than those of the Cleveland plan which is being used as a model. Under the original provisions of the draft the city by giving the company six months' notice can purchase the property by paying the capital value, plus ten per cent, and assuming the obligations, liabilities and indebtedness of the company. Work was resumed on valuation of the property today.

SHE HAD A REASON.

A happy father of South Lima, was very proud of his little daughter the other day. A baby brother was born to her and she was very much excited and in love with the child. But just to tease her, the father said, "But we won't have him long, because your grandfather has offered to purchase him at $1 an ounce and with the high cost of living I suppose we will have to sell him to get the money for bread and butter."

"Oh, but you won't do that?" shrieked the little girl.

"Why not?" fondly inquired the father.

"Save him until he gets a little bigger and you will get more for him," answered the frugal little soul.

A patent has been granted to a Chicago man for a tennis racket press that also serves as a cover.

Now Pass It.

THE CITIZENS OF LIMA should be glad that the special committee, representative of various organizations having the betterment of Lima at heart, has been able to reach an agreement with the Ohio Electric management over a new street car and lighting franchise.

It is to be understood, of course, that the citizens committee has no authority. It is acting merely for the people of Lima, having endeavored to smooth out what seemed to be insurmountable obstacles to the progress of the city.

The Times has all along been in favor of the Taylor plan of operating the street cars, because we believe that Lima people would rather pay what good service is worth than pay five cent fare for the present abortive service.

The Times sees no objections worth mentioning in the contract now agreed upon and it hopes that council will pass the necessary legislation without further ado. When a committee of representative citizens of a city, with nothing but the good of that city in view, pass favorably upon a proposition it naturally will look good to the other citizens.

The Old, Old Story

CHIEF interest in the Muncie fraud trial is to be found in the ease with which the alleged swindlers induced their victims to part with their money. They relied on the weakness of human nature to become rich quickly and by short cuts. Once the bait had been out and dangled before the victim, there remained only the task of collecting the money.

And yet one wonders why the Muncie crowd resorted to the crude methods of fake races, prize fights, wrestling matches and mining schemes. A much more refined method of fleecing the public could have been found in selling worthless stock in still more worthless mine, oil and industrial companies. This is the latest way of separating the sucker from his money.

The public seemingly never will learn the wiles of the oily tongued swindlers. Hardly have the courts sent one gang to prison before another scheme is on way to rob men and women of their savings. And said to say every new scheme finds enough ignorant persons ready to grab the bait that its success is assured before the swindlers put into operation.

The only foil against loss from this source is caution. If you are approached by a person offering to make you rich over night, if flattering promises of rewards are made, remember that good investments do not go begging for investors. Meritorious enterprises can obtain all the capital they need.

The bankers of a community are the best friends an investor can find. None is too busy to give you a few minutes of time for an investigation of a proposed investment. Their approval or rejection usually can be accepted at its face value. They have your interest at heart. The stranger who is selling stocks is interested in his own affairs only.

A New Platform

IN AN editorial in the Saturday Evening Post a new political platform is proclaimed or proposed for the people of this country. It is given along toward the end of a remarkable preachment, showing that every body in this country will have to work together; that the next president of the United States must be something else than a college professor, a lawyer, or a politician, and after reviewing the conditions of the world at large. It reads as follows:

"Work or starve.
"Save or want.
"Play together or you'll play hell.
"Be a good American or get out."

It is the shortest platform we have ever read and the most significant and hopeful one. If either political party adopts it, conscientiously, with a determination to live up to it, that political party will win, provided a man is nominated upon such platform who has the backbone and the common sense to insist upon carrying it out.

GOOD EVENING—"Eve didn't have to go shopping, but she would if summer furs were being worn in these days."

With the Crabbe net knocked out we suppose a fellow may have a 3.75 per cent. mince pie in his house, while it lasts, without danger of confiscation, by somebody who doesn't happen to have one.

Judging from the news on the Allen County Court Journal it seems that a good many people believe they made a mistake in signing the marriage contract without amendments or reservations.

One of the discouraging things about fame is that about 60 per cent. of the people don't know right now whether it was Dempsey or Reuther that won the tennis championship.

Short Stories of the Buckeye State

HAYES COULD BE FIRM

It was under the administration of President Rutherford B. Hayes that Ohio began to be so numerously represented in high places at the national capital and in positions of honor and authority as to cause caustic comment in other states of the Union. Most of it was of a humorous nature, but under it was easy to see rising indignation.

The president realized this even before the leaders of his party in this state did, and with a notable display of official backbone, shut down on the pressure from Ohio for preferment in the national government as is indicated by the following story told by one of his newspaper friends—an editor of national reputation—who had gone to him in the interest of a brother editor.

The applicant in this case was the late Muret Halstead, long prominent in journalism at Cincinnati. There was a vacancy in the cabinet at the time—the head of the war department—and Halstead was being considered for the position. Because the position of secretary of the treasury was held at the time by an Ohio man Halstead's friends anticipated that this would be cited in opposition to their request, and they went armed with precedents in which two persons from the same state had held positions in the same cabinet.

The president shut his visitors off at this point with a brusque "Yes, I am aware that you can cite precedents for it, but you can cite a precedent in which the president, two members of his cabinet, both the general and the lieutenant general of the army, the chief justice of the supreme court and one of the associate justices, and the minister to Japan, and the President kept on referring to official after official then holding under the administration—all from Ohio, until his visitors threw up their hands and while ostensibly still for their candidate, withdrew without further pressing the case."

OUR BED-TIME STORY

FOR TINY TIMES-DEMOCRAT FOLKS

When Ladydear, Captain Brave asked me to give you," he said in a and Signor Angelo met to discuss queer voices and took the letter out their plans for the day, the sixth of his pocket.

morning after Jack and Jane had been kidnapped, they felt downhearted. The first few days they had been almost as confident that they could soon track down the band of kidnappers and rescue the children as were the children that their friends would find them. But the five days' search had given them not a single trace of the place where the children were being hidden.

"I don't know what we can do next," said Signor Angelo. "Every time we found what seemed to be a trace of the children or news that would help us it turned out to be a very clever scheme of the kidnappers to keep us away from their hiding place. I wouldn't feel quite as worried if I knew that Jack and Jane were well. A day or two of poor food and a night or two in one of the filthy houses of the band wouldn't hurt them, but they have been away almost a week now."

Ladydear and Captain Brave felt the same way. But something had to be done, so they began to discuss now ways of hunting for the children. Captain Brave had just suggested that the American ambassador be asked to seek the help of a regiment of Italian soldiers to search the entire city and surrounding area, so they began to discuss this move when a bellboy rapped on the door.

"Come in," called Captain Brave. The boy stuck his head inside the door and said:

"There's a boy down at the clerk's desk with a big package. Says he has been ordered to deliver it to you."

"Somebody that the band has sent to deliver a note," said Captain Brave to Signor Angelo.

"Well, we'd better have him brought up. When he gets through with his errand we'll see what we can learn from him."

"Bring him up," Captain Brave told the bellboy. While the boy was running downstairs Signor Angelo and Captain Brave each slipped their guns in their pockets. "If we have to we can hold him here for a while," said Signor Angelo.

Then they waited for the messenger to come.

He wasn't a boy, as the bellboy had said. He was a young fellow, awfully dirty looking and dressed in ragged clothes. His cap was pulled down over his eyes and he held his head down so that it was hard to see up under his cap.

GOITRE

Of 24 Years Removed By External Home Treatment for Dayton, Ohio Lady.

Mrs. G. A. Harried, 218 Gettysburg Ave., Dayton, Ohio, says in her own home paper, The Dayton News: "I would like to be able to tell every goitre sufferer what Sorbol-Quadruple has done for me. If any one cares to write, I will give them my personal experience. My goitre, which was on both sides and in the middle, was very hard, large and unsightly. About a year ago I used two bottles, which entirely reduced both sides and the center was made much smaller. Like many people will, I neglected to use any more or I would have been completely relieved by this time. A short time ago, I began using it again and the little hard lump in front is getting softer and smaller. My goitre was 24 years standing. I had no ill effects from using Sorbol-Quadruple. It did not interfere with my regular work."

Sorbol-Quadruple comes in small bottles containing enough for most cases. Requires ten minutes daily. Get further information at Hunters Drug Stores and drug stores everywhere, or write Sorbol Company, Meadville, Ohio.

Note: It would be illegal to publish the above statements if they were not true.

MANY PROMINENT MEN COME OUT FOR TANLAC

FORMER MAYOR OF BIRMINGHAM, ALA., NOW INDORSES IT

Hon. Frank V. Evans Says He Weighs More Than Ever In His Life

PRAISES IT HIGHLY

His Recovery Is the Talk of the Town, He Now States

One of the latest additions to the large and rapidly growing list of prominent men who have publicly endorsed Tanlac for the good it has done them is the name of Hon. Frank V. Evans, former mayor of Birmingham, Ala. Mr. Evans is one of the best known men in public life in Alabama today, being at one time editor for one of the South's greatest newspapers, the Birmingham Age-Herald. He was also an examiner of public accounts in Alabama. In telling of the benefits he had derived from Tanlac, Mr. Evans said:

"For years I suffered with gastritis and indigestion in the worst form. I was habitually constipated and had pains in my shoulders and headachings continually. My appetite left me almost entirely and everything I could eat hurt me. Finally I got to having awful attacks of acute indigestion, palpitation of the heart and smothering spells. For a long time I would have one or more of these spells every night and I would wake out of my restless sleep gasping for breath."

"I bought a bottle of Tanlac and to my surprise and gratification I began to feel relief after the first few doses. I kept taking the medicine and now weigh more than ever before, and my recovery is simply the talk of Birmingham."

Rev. A. H. Sykes Is Gratified Over Wife's Condition

The Rev. A. H. Sykes, pastor of the Watkins Park Presbyterian church, Nashville, Tenn., prominent not only as a minister of the gospel but popular as a man whose life has been true to his friends and every trust ever reposed in him, said recently:

"For the last ten months Mrs. Sykes has been in very delicate health, suffering from bad stomach and kidney troubles, which gradually developed into a general nervous breakdown. At times her condition became alarming and I frequently sought medical advice, but nothing would do for her seemed to bring relief."

"In fact, she suffered so long and so much that I felt it my duty to let every one know what this medicine has done for her. For several months her condition was such that she had to remain in bed, and as a last resort I decided to let her try Tanlac."

"I am a conservative man and have always been skeptical regarding the use of proprietary medicines, but this case has certainly proven an exception. I am now firmly convinced that Tanlac is a medicine of great power and extraordinary merit. I do not think I have ever seen anything to give such prompt results. Mrs. Sykes has taken only two-thirds of a bottle of this medicine when we began to notice a marked improvement in her condition. In less than a week from the time she began taking it she was able to sit up and is today able to help with the household duties. Before she began taking Tanlac she had fearful pain in her side and suffered constantly from sour stomach and indigestion and was intensely nervous. These distressing symptoms, I am thankful to say, have entirely disappeared, her appetite has returned and she seems to relish everything she eats. She sleeps better and is gaining strength and flesh rapidly. I think it only a question of a short time until her health is fully restored."

Tanlac has certainly proved a remarkable remedy in her case and will do all you claim for it. I cheerfully recommend it to my friends."

Tanlac is sold in Lima by Hunter's Drug Stores and the leading druggists in every town.

JUDGE G. W. KYSER MAKES STATEMENT

Judge G. W. Kyser, 1204 West Ninth Street, Austin, Tex., in a recent interview made the following statement:

"Tanlac is rapidly making me over into a new man and I will always speak a good word for it when I have the opportunity."

Judge Kyser served in the Civil War with the 32d Texas Cavalry under Col. Woods, and occupied the bench in Caldwell County for 20 years and resigned this office to accept the appointment as Commissioner of Pensions under Gov. Colquhoun. After 18 months in this office he was compelled on account of failing health to retire from active life. He is not only one of Austin's most highly respected citizens, but is prominently known throughout the State.

"I have suffered from constipation for years," continued Judge Kyser. "I had rheumatic pains all over my body, was restless and couldn't sleep at all. I had no energy and suffered frequently from headaches."

Mayors, Judges, State and County Officials, Bankers, Lawyers, Doctors, Editors and Ministers Indorse It

It is seldom, indeed, that men of prominence, especially men holding high public office, willingly express their indebtedness publicly to a proprietary medicine. Many prominent men, however, including Supreme Court judges, mayors of our leading cities, prominent State and county officials, bankers, lawyers, doctors, editors, leading educators, government officials and even ministers of the gospel have deemed it their duty to come forward and tell the people what Tanlac has done for them.

"These well known men of affairs have recognized in this medicine a new discovery and a scientific triumph in the medical world. It is a well known fact that these splendid indorsements have been given Tanlac time and again, and they will continue to be given just as often as new tests of its powers are made and it also explains why numbers of the big drug firms of the country are ordering it exclusively in carload lots."

Appearing below are a few indorsements from the large numbers that are continually being given to the public.

HIGH SHERIFFS OF SOUTH CONVINCED

From Widely Separated States Comes Highest Praise for Tanlac

From four of the best known sheriffs in the South, in the widely separated States, have come enthusiastic indorsements as to the merits of Tanlac.

"Tanlac has certainly helped me, and I recommend it for the good it has done in my case," said Hon. C. W. Henson, ex-sheriff of Fulton County, Georgia, who resides in Atlanta, and who has been one of the most popular officials in the State having served three terms as sheriff.

"Tanlac seemed to be just what I needed to put my system in shape, and it has toned me right up. Naturally I would recommend it to my friends, and I know of fifteen or twenty families that are taking it now on my say-so."

Arkansas Official Testifies
Hon. Charles L. Lewis, ex-sheriff of Crittendon County, a merchant and a large plantation owner of Marion, Ark., said: "I am convinced from the benefits that my wife and myself and many of our friends have received from Tanlac that it is without an equal."

"Money couldn't buy the good Tanlac has done me, and I gladly recommend it to others for what it has done in my case," said Hon. Archie R. Anderson, ex-sheriff of Harris County, Texas, who was re-elected to this high office seven times and served the people of his county for 15 years as sheriff. Mr. Anderson was chief of police of the city of Houston, where he resided for several years and there is not a better known man in Harris County.

Texas Sheriff's Endorsement
"I needed a general, all-around building up for the last seven months and Tanlac has done that very thing for me," said Hon. S. A. Kelly, sheriff of Bexar County, who resides at Odessa, Texas, and who is one of the most popular officials in that section to the State.

"I have taken only two bottles but I feel like a different man already. My appetite is fine and what I eat gives me nourishment and strength. The rheumatism is much better and my liver is in good condition. I am relieved of the headaches and feel more active and energetic than I have in months."

Tanlac is sold in Lima by Hunter's Drug Stores and the leading druggist in every town.

PRESIDENT COTTON OIL MILL PRAISES IT

Mr. C. C. Cooper, president of the Georgia Home Cotton Oil Company of Lawrenceville, Ga., and one of the big business men of Atlanta, said: "I suffered for seven or eight years. Not until I began taking Tanlac have I been able to notice the slightest improvement in my condition. I am greatly improved and Tanlac is unquestionably the best thing of the kind I ever tried."

Among the prominent manufacturers and business men who have endorsed Tanlac are John F. Carroll, cotton mill superintendent and leading citizen of Chattanooga and Atlanta; N. M. Yancy, manager of contract department, Atlanta Telephone and Telegraph Company.

PRESIDENT OF HOME FOR GIRLS TALKS

Dr. W. H. Brown, 4322 Charlotte ave., Nashville, Tenn., founder and president of the Tennessee Protection Home for Girls, and a man whose charitable work has won for him the friendship and admiration of thousands, said:

"My friends have all noticed the great improvement in me since I took Tanlac, and I am boosting it every chance I get. From my own personal experience with the medicine and from what I have observed where others have been using it, I am convinced that it is the best medicine of the kind in the world."

—and to be frank about it, I was just about played out."

"But I'm feeling like a different man now, thanks to Tanlac. In fact, I'm feeling fine now and nothing has helped me but Tanlac. I am recommending it to my friends. I am recommending I have ever found to build up a weak, run down system and to restore lost health and vigor."

LEADING BANKERS ARE NOW ENTHUSED OVER THE RESULTS

Officials of Well Known Financial Institutions Testify

TELL EXPERIENCES

Praise Tanlac in Highest Terms for What It Did for Them

Two of the best known bankers in the Southern States recently told their remarkable experience with the use of Tanlac. Their letters follow exactly as written:

The first letter quoted comes through Eli W. Goode, druggist and local agent for Tanlac at Hawkinsville, Ga., containing the statement of E. J. Henry, president of the Hawkinsville Bank and Trust Company, which is one of the best known financial institutions in that part of the State. His letter follows just as it was written:

"Hawkinsville, Ga.
"Mr. G. F. Willis, Atlanta, Ga.
"Dear Sir—Mr. E. J. Henry, president of the Hawkinsville Bank and Trust Company, came into my store a few days ago and said: 'Eli, sell me another bottle of Tanlac.'

"I said, 'Mr. Henry, what do you really think of Tanlac?' His reply was so commendable to the virtues of the medicine that I asked him if it would give me a signed statement about it. He said: 'Yes, of course I will!' and it is as follows:

"Last spring I was all wrong some way or other and couldn't get right. I came to you and bought a bottle of Tanlac and began to improve. Two more bottles put me all right and I felt perfectly well. A few weeks ago I had the grippe and was beginning to get down and out again and about a week ago I bought another bottle and have taken it and am perfectly well again."

"I unhesitatingly recommend Tanlac to any one who is sick and worn out, as I believe that if anybody will take Tanlac when they first begin to feel badly it will prevent and keep off sickness. It certainly is a great remedy."

(Signed)
"E. J. HENRY, President,
"Hawkinsville Bank and Trust Company."

The other letter referred to comes from the cashier of the Hornbeck branch of the West Louisiana Bank at Hornbeck, La., "Hornbeck, La.
"Mr. C. F. Willis, Atlanta, Ga.
"Dear Sir—I wish to say that I have taken five (5) bottles of Tanlac and have gained fifteen (15) pounds in three weeks. I think it is a great medicine."

(Signed)
"W. C. McELVEEN, Cashier,
"Bank of Hornbeck, Hornbeck, La."

Dr. Edwards Says He Prescribes It For His Patients

Dr. J. T. Edwards of Fayetteville, Ga., one of the best known members of the medical profession in the State of Georgia, makes a statement that will undoubtedly produce a profound impression throughout the country.

"In my thirty years of active practice as a licensed physician in the State of Georgia," says Dr. Edwards, "I have never seen anything to equal Tanlac as a medicine to produce results. I hear people on all sides telling of the benefits they have derived from its use."

"Tanlac is simply the talk of my town. I have no hesitancy in recommending the medicine and as a matter of fact I am prescribing it for my patients almost every day."

"Only a few days ago a well known woman of Fayetteville came to me and told me about the remarkable relief her daughter had gained from the use of this medicine. She said her daughter had been confined to her bed for three years and that after using Tanlac for a short time she was able to be about and was on the road to recovery."

"But this is only one instance. People in all walks of life in and around our little city are giving similar endorsements to the medicine. Seldom a day passes that some one does not come to me and say something about the good results they are getting from the use of Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Lima by Hunter's Drug Stores and the leading druggist in every town.

PASTOR OF WESLEY MEMORIAL TESTIFIES

The Rev. W. C. Norton, pastor of the Wesley Memorial Church, 523 Estell st., Jacksonville, Fla., which large charge he has held for many years, is not only a leader in his church, but is exceedingly popular and widely recognized as a leading citizen and a man of thought and action.

"The Rev. Mr. Norton said: 'I suffered from chronic indigestion for eight or ten years. The benefits I derived from this medicine are nothing short of wonderful for I really feel as well now as I ever felt in my life. In short, Tanlac has simply restored my health and I feel it my duty to recommend it.'

NEW POWERFUL TONIC REMEDY BEING INTRODUCED HERE CREATES INTENSE INTEREST

Fortifies System Against Sickness, Improves Digestion and Appetite and Increases Diseases—Resisting Vitality—Nuxite Formula Splendid, Declaring Authorities—Brings Back Color, Weight and Strength Quickly—Fine Tonic for Fall—Builds up and Fortifies Run-Down Systems—Weak, Thin Pale People Built Up by Home Treatment.

The Hunter Drug Company is featuring the new and remarkable preparation known as Nuxite, which experts assert is the most powerful medicine, and the best medicine made for building up weak, half-sick people and fortifying their systems against complications following sickness, from overwork and worry. Through hundreds of tests of the most exact character, it has been proven beyond doubt that by its use thousands of persons can rebuild their strength, vitality and nerve force, and regain their lost weight, hearty appetite, rich red blood and rosy robust health.

The results of these tests in each case indicate how easily one may keep the system toned up and invigorated, and the vitality built up to high pitch, through the use of a good powerful tonic acting directly on the system.

"If every man and woman, and their children take a good tonic and give thought to health now, the chances are ten to one that they will not be sick at all this winter regardless of whether the influenza or any other disease rages throughout the country or not," according to W. R. Cooper, the Nuxite specialist, who is making his headquarters at Hunter's Public Square Drug Store. "Whole families here in Lima are heeding the warning, and increasing their disease-resisting, vitality against a possible recurrence of the influenza he continued. "The report of three hundred cases in one city the warning of the United States Government and many others prove the wisdom of following their course. With this new, powerful tonic, Nuxite, weak, nervous, run-down, thin and half-sick people get back on their feet quickly. Summer coughs, colds, bronchial and catarrhal troubles, lack of color, boils, pimples, and so forth, indicate a poor condition of the blood. It is reasonable to expect that people suffering from these troubles will be down in bed this winter for one cause or another."

Nuxite is made of the finest ingredients obtainable in one of the largest and greatest laboratories in America. Its remarkable formula is a result of the years of study and experimentation, and is perfectly balanced, so as to secure the best possible results in all cases in which its use is indicated. Scores of people from Lima and surrounding towns have been calling on Mr. Cooper at Hunter's Public Square Drug Store, to see what this new preparation looks like, how it is taken and what may be accomplished through its use.

EIGHT WORKING DAYS UNTIL THE END

Big Extra Vote Offer Closes Tonight—Last Offer Announced Tomorrow—No One Sure of Big Prize Now.

(BY A. E. PRINCE)

Eight days is a mighty short time, and before you know it the time will be counted in hours and minutes until the close. Even though the time is short it is sufficient for any live candidate to get out and win. There are always some sprinters in a race of this kind who makes a wonderful showing at the start, but who as the race nears the finish get troubled with a tired feeling and slow down till the steady workers pass them and leave them wondering how it all happened after the contest is a matter of history.

You candidates wonder if you can win one of the Big prizes offered in the Times Great Campaign. The answer depends solely upon your feet. The Campaign Manager is seriously considering the publication of a NEW BOOK for the benefit of several contestants, who seem to have small symptoms of "Cold Feet." The subject of this new book to be "Hard Work, A Substitute for Cold Feet, or How to Cure an Aggravated Case of Pedal Frigidity."

For the benefit of those who do not understand the scientific terms in which this title is smothered, it is thus explained: A case of Pedal Frigidity is simply a bad case of "Cold Feet," and there are several in this list of contestants who have been showing symptoms of this disease. However, there are others who are immune from this dread epidemic. Those who are immune are those who keep walking after subscriptions to The Times, and absolutely refuse to become inoculated. Those having the poisonous germs in their system can get rid of them by getting out in the fresh air and going after subscriptions which is the only cure and the only way to win the Willys-Knight Touring Car or the Chevrolet Touring Car, or in fact any of the other fine prizes offered.

Friends and Neighbors

There are several people who profess to be friends of the different candidates, who tell them every day, how they hope they will win, how interested they are, and how hard they are "pulling" for them, etc. Such talk sounds mighty nice, does very well to frame, hang in the parlor, but the vital question is: "How bad do you want to see your favorite win?" If you wish to see her land the BIG PRIZE (and you have said you did) do you want to see her win a YEAR'S SUBSCRIPTION WORTH? Don't be a piker, come across with the necessary subscription and HELP them win. This campaign is not won yet by any means, several have a good chance, and it is up to you friends of the candidates to help them. CONTESTANTS Don't wait for your friends to come to you, but hustle after them, it will all be over in eight short days, now is the time to get out and dig, for dig you must if you want to win. Watch the Times tomorrow for the last vote offer it will be good, but not as big as the former offers.

STILL PUZZLED

There is a little woman in the North End who is wondering what her next door neighbor thinks was said to her, from the nature of her answer to her remark. The elderly neighbor asked the young matron if she was going to a party that was being discussed at the time. The young woman answered, "No, I haven't been sufficiently urged." To which her questioner replied, "I think so, too." Wouldn't that sort of answer set any one guessing?

THE MARRIED MAN AND THE AVERAGE MAN

Since Athena's masked ball I have not dared write in my diary. There are things which gain too much weight if put into words. The mere speaking or writing of them crystallizes them into definite form. And perhaps they are better left intangible.

Yet to shirk the deeps and rapids of life, paddling about in the safe, still water, surely makes for weakness. How shall we know ourselves, our possibilities and our limitations if we avoid all tests of strength?

Since I have got to face this thing perhaps writing about it here may help to clear my vision.

Eric Sands is coming! There, I feel better for having set it down. At Athena's ball I was sitting out a dance with the portrait painter. We were still masked and had been having a glorious time. The spell of the gayety and lights was on me. The champagne bubbled. Wits struck sparks from wits.

It was myself at myself's best. A new self, quite different from the dowdy bride I was in Centerville. I found I could make merry with the best of them.

I found to my unutterable delight that I have power over men, and where lives the woman who does not glory in such power? I—a married woman, yet at heart a girl who has really really lived, never rubbed much against the sharp corners of the world. I—whose only real adventure was that vacation trip to England when I met Eric Sands. I—whose only thought a year ago was to be a thrifty wife, a comrade to one man, a maker of a modest home and the mother of children. I, Ann Salsbery, age twenty-four, habit at Centerville, Ind., can live and love and glitter and hold sway and be sought after and garner experiences to warm the cold years of age!

The portrait painter flung me a challenge. "I cannot see your face," he whispered, "but your hands tell me of your loveliness. Oh, you didn't know that—that hands speak even more eloquently than lips? And your arm, your throat, your wonderful voice! You can do as you like with men, my lady. But some day, mark me, you'll pay a reckoning."

I laughed out of sheer joy. I was riding the crest of a wave. My spirits soared. At that instant I felt I could do anything I chose—a writer, an actress, anything!" "You're a silly fellow," I cried. "You yourself have taught me how to skim the sweets and leave the bitter. You and your kind have shown me how not to take life too seriously."

"Men are made of straw and glass. A woman sees through them. And when she troubles to look carefully she finds their theories are only fit to stuff old cushions with!"

"Then you've not met the right sort of men," he answered. "I'll show you a new kind—a man who things himself nothing but whom the world acclaims. A man who in his bigness of vision looks into his own right. A gentle fellow, whimsical, full of humor, as simple as a child, yet strong as tempered steel. He's ill now and coming over from England to get well—if possible."

"Oh, ho!" I laughed. "A paragon! And you think I'll acknowledge his superiority and stoop to conquest? What's your, valid's name?" "He's a British soldier, wounded in France. His name is Eric Sands."

TEA AND CHATTER

I was dressed for a walk with Major Williston and about to descend in the elevator when a bell boy handed me a telegram.

It was signed "Violet Chiswold" and read:

"Have arrived in your charming country. Sorry you are not at home. When can I see you, important."

I ran back to my suite.

"Pan," I cried, bursting in upon the yellow sheet, "Violet Chiswold—that was has arrived. Let's have her down here."

"A good idea!" agreed Pan, "Wire her."

"No, I'll get her on long distance. There will be lots to explain."

I put in my call and then went to the lobby where Major Williston was waiting.

"Do you mind having tea here today?" I enquired meeting his brilliant eyes with an effort at unconcern. "I'm waiting for a long bus-lance call and we can while away the time over tea and muffins and then take our walk."

"So long as I am with you—" he began, but I cut him off with a peremptory gesture.

"Don't spoil your charming originality with a trite compliment," I cautioned. "You are different from any man I ever knew and therefore completely disarming."

"Don you mind telling me just how disarming?" He enquired with a smile as we seated ourselves at a table overlooking the lobby.

I shook my head gayly.

"I don't dare admit how weak my weapons of resistance are," I told him with a demurely veiled glance.

"If I really thought that, I should launch one overwhelming attack and carry off before the barrage had lifted."

"Do it," I dared him audaciously, "and if you win—"

"Yes," he leaned forward, holding my gaze with his brilliant eyes.

"I'll remember you as the first man that ever did." I finished mischievously.

He leaned back and smiled quietly at his teacup, but made no comment.

"Now let me tell you about the charming young widow, a country woman of yours, who is coming to visit me here, I hope. Did you ever happen to meet Violet Chiswold, who was Violet Crossley? Her husband was a captain in the Royal Flying Corps."

"I knew Chiswold slightly. Met him in Paris once and again at Ostend. I recall his wife though, very attractive."

"Indeed she is," I declared warmly. "And I'm afraid she has not been too happy."

"Knowing Chiswold, I can well believe it, but—de mortuis," he finished with a shrug.

"I wasn't referring entirely to her marital experience," I admitted. "Will you forgive me for a bit of gossip, if I tell you that Violet Crossley and Captain Frazier met in Hawaii before her marriage to Chiswold—and Frazier is very fascinating," I insinuated.

"So?" he raised his brows. "Aren't things getting in something of a muddle if all these people are brought here simultaneously?"

"Muddle is a mild term," I cried despairingly. "To be forcefully American, things are in such a jam, I just want to get out and hide my poor head like an ostrich."

"I have offered the shelter," suggested the Major, "Marry me, and chuck it all."

"One more day like yesterday and I will," I cried recklessly.

"The saints send us yesterday!" he breathed his dazzling eyes dancing.

"Mrs. Tindall, please. Calling Mrs. Tindall," droned a page drifting down the lobby.

"That's my call," I said, rising hastily and beckoning the boy.

"Hello," I cried excitedly into the phone.

The voice that answered was not Violet's, but Paul's.

WHAT TO DO AT THE WORST

The naval class was under signal instruction. Most of them had just come back from leave, and, as a result, to some of the boys in blue, the instructors' voice seemed very far away indeed. "A ship in distress" he was saying, through the room spaces "has several methods by means of which she can make known her condition to other vessels or shore stations. Name one, Binks."

"The international code signal N. C.," replied Binks, waking up just in time.

"Right," said the instructor.

"Jenks, name another."

Jenks started out of a dream, "Eh?"

he ejaculated.

"What would you do if you were in distress?" repeated the signal instructor.

"Why," mumbled Jenks, "paw me watch."—Buffalo Commercial.

AMUSEMENTS

LYRIC—"Daddy Long Legs," the motion picture production of the great story by Jean Webster, in which Mary Pickford will be seen at the Lyric is an attraction which will have universal appeal, for it is filled with children, and their deluge.

Miss Pickford has the role of Judy Abbott, a twelve-year-old girl, full of life and fun, who dodges the cruel punishments of the superintendent of the John Grier Orphanage, to run off and help the little ones who are faring ill on the miserable diet and poor care they receive.

More than a score of orphaned children, some of them the most clever child actors who have ever been seen on the screen, aid Miss Pickford in this earlier part of the picture, which shows scenes in the big orphan asylum.

Miss Pickford is assisted by a number of children among whom is the funniest and most freckle-faced lad ever seen in a picture. How he and Mary provoke and carry through a "prune strike" is one of the episodes of the picture in which humor and pathos have a constant struggle for the upper hand.

THE REGENT

"The Girl from Outside" belongs to the new order of motion pictures, with swiftly moving story running smoothly on from point to point in steady climactic order. It tells its own story without much need of titles. Gone are the days of jorky stories as far as Rex Beach is concerned as he is of the swiftly changing scenes breaking off in the middle of interesting moments. He saw that there was too much of a mix-up as stories were told. You will see that he was right when you see his latest photodrama.

Every scene in this Goldwyn picture is held to its full value and the change to another scene explains itself. The sub-titles introduce new characters and give the actual speech of the people. It is no secret that Rex Beach considers this part of the writing for the screen of great importance.

Women's part in the war has excited unusual interest, but nowhere is it greater than in Washington, where thousands of petticoat patriots are now working for Uncle Sam.

"And which are the best workers, the plain girls or the pretty ones?" asked Senator Penrose of one of the treasury officials.

"Well, it's this way," was the answer. "The plain girls don't make so many mistakes, but no one finds fault when the pretty ones make them; so I guess it's about fifty-fifty."—Los Angeles Times.

PORTANCE.

In "The Girl from Outside" you get to know characters you will not soon forget. That is what makes a photodrama worth while, worth seeing twice. It will be shown at the Regent today.

ORPHEUM.

The only act of its kind ever booked to appear in Lima is offered by Zeno, Dunbar and Jordan, "comedy casters," who headline the vaudeville bill of five big-time Keith offerings for the last half of this week at the Orpheum theatre, beginning at the matinee this afternoon and continuing through Sunday night. "Something new, something different," is the only apt description of the turn of Zeno, Dunbar and Jordan.

Mason and Austin are clever chaps who operate "The Sunshine Special" for "Laughterland." Their only object when before the footlights is to dispense an irresistible brand of humor. Harmony songsters "as sweet as sugar and just as good" are the two Stewart Sisters. Each possesses an exceptionally good voice. A thoroughly enjoyable comedy musical novelty is the offering of Ted and Corrine Broton. Of course they sing some, but they depend for their greatest favor upon their instrumental accomplishments. A comedy skit of dialogue, dance and song is offered by Howard and Scott, a talented young woman and a clever young man.

At the Orpheum, Saturday afternoon, as usual, there will be a matinee especially for the ladies and children and everything will be in their honor. Bargain prices will prevail.

FAUROT-SHIRLEY MASON.

Shirley Mason heads the new program at the Faurot today, appearing in the Paramount comedy-drama, "The Final Close-Up," an adaptation of a magazine story by Royal Brown. Miss Mason appears as a shop girl who has some romantic and exciting adventures during her vacation and others in the east are Francis McDonald, James Gordon, Betty Bouton, Eugene Burr and Mary Warren. Other features of the bill are Topics of the

The Wonderful "PRIMA" Electric Washing Machine

WASHING BY SURFACE TENSION

(The New Applied Principle of Washing)

Most modern inventions have their origin in the application of an old principle in a new way.

The PRIMA Domestic Laundry Machine depends for its efficiency on a principle as old as that of gravity—the principle of surface tension.

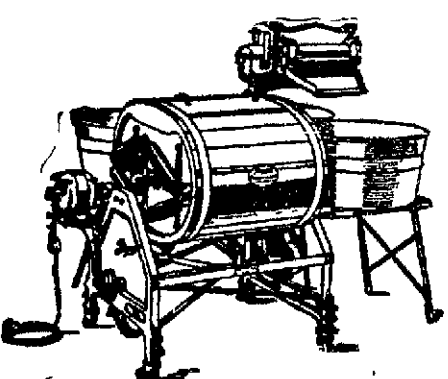

If you blow a soap bubble from a clay pipe and then allow the air to escape through the pipe stem, the bubble will contract until the air is forced out. The soapy film composing the bubble has a really wonderful amount of strength, so great is the attraction of its constituent molecules for each other.

In washing with the PRIMA the terrific hammer stroke of the elliptical tub breaks up into small drops the soapy water, or suds, at the same time driving it directly through the fabric of the clothes. The particles of soapy water have an attraction for each other—their tendency is to reunite—and in passing through the fabric of the clothes a suction is created which removes the dirt instantly. The PRIMA washes in one-half the time required by any other machine.

No corrugations—no rubbing devices—no mechanical contrivances of any kind whatsoever are used inside the tub. It is as smooth as a dinner plate. It offers no chance to tear the clothes—no possibility of dropping oil to spot or soil them. It cannot injure a thread of the most delicate fabric, yet it washes clean every piece of clothing put into it, from handkerchief to a coarse rag—from the finest lingerie to the heaviest woolen blanket.

"THE PRIMA" WRINGER
OPERATES WITH SAME
MOTOR POWER.

WE WANT THE PEOPLE OF LIMA TO SEE
THIS WONDERFUL
MACHINE IN OPERATION.

Here is our proposition: Have a sample of every kind of Electric Washer sent to your home, then order us to send "A Prima." Give them all a thorough test, and keep the one you think is best. Is this fair?

We sell these machines on the basis of actual performance. Let us demonstrate one in your home.

TODAY—Alice in Wonderland," by Lewis Carroll.
TOMORROW—"The Scarlet Letter," by Hawthorne.

CARROLL

Lewis Carroll (Charles Lutwidge Dodgson) was born in the village of Daresbury, Cheshire, England, Jan. 27, 1832. He was a mathematician as well as an author, and while the literary life of "Lewis Carroll" was familiar to a wide circle of readers, the private life of Charles Lutwidge Dodgson was retired and practically uneventful. He took a first class in the final mathematical school in 1854 and the following year was appointed mathematical lecturer at Christ Church, a post he continued to fill until 1881. His published books of a purely mathematical nature first, but in 1865 he published, under the pseudonym of "Lewis Carroll," Alice's Adventures in Wonderland, a work that was the outcome of his keen sympathy with the imagination of children and their sense of fun. This whimsical story was an immediate success, and the name of "Lewis Carroll" has ever since been a household word. Mr. Dodgson was extremely fond of children, and it was an open secret that the original of Alice was a daughter of Dean Liddell. A dramatic version of the Alice book was produced at Christmas, 1886, and has since enjoyed numerous revivals. Throughout this dual existence Mr. Dodgson persistently refused to be publicly identified with "Lewis Carroll," although his authorship of "Alice in Wonderland" and "Through the Looking Glass" was well-known. He died at Guildford on the 14th of January, 1898, his memory is appropriately kept green by a cot in the Children's Hospital, Great Ormond street, London, which was erected and endowed perpetually by public subscription.

ALICE IN WONDERLAND

(Condensation by Newton Newkirk)
—LEWIS CARROLL.

Alice sat nodding sleepily on a mossy bank beside her big sister, who was reading. Presently a pink-eyed white rabbit ran by looking at its watch and saying, "Oh dear—I shall be late!" Alice bounded after the rabbit across a field and into a hole under a hedge. After running through the hole a distance she suddenly stepped off into space and began to fall. She fell slowly and it was a very pleasant sensation. Alice was wondering whether she would stop at the earth's centre when, bump!—she landed on a heap of leaves unhurt. The Rabbit was scampering down the passage. Springing to her feet she pursued, but it disappeared around the next corner and Alice found herself in a long hall of many doors all locked. On a table was a golden key which fitted the smallest door, only 15 inches high. Unlocking this she beheld a beautiful flower garden, but could not squeeze through the door. On the table she found a bottle labelled "Drink Me." Alice tasted it—it was delicious and she drank it.

hurried upstairs to the Rabbit's bedroom and found, not gloves and a fan, but a bottle on the bureau. It was not labelled, but Alice drank the contents. She awoke so rapidly that the room was hardly big enough to contain her, although she was lying on the floor with her head drawn up to her chin.

While in this predicament some one threw a handful of pebbles through the window into the room. These turned into bits of candy. Alice ate several of them and soon shrank until she could escape from the house. Running into the wood she sat down beside a mushroom to rest. "What can I do for you?" asked a voice. Alice looked up and on top of the mushroom sat a blue caterpillar smoking a pipe.

"Oh, please sir," replied Alice, "make me larger!" "That's easy," said the Caterpillar, "one side of this mushroom will make you taller, and the other side shorter." Before Alice could ask more the Caterpillar disappeared.

Alice broke off a piece from each side of the mushroom. After eating a bit of one she grew so short her chin struck her foot. Hastily eating some of the other she grew so tall her head was among the tree-tops. "Oh dear, shall I never be my regular size again?" she cried nibbling from the first piece and shrinking down to only nine inches.

In despair she started to walk through the wood and soon came to a little house about four feet high. Without knocking Alice walked into the kitchen. The Duchess sat rocking a little pig in her lap, the Cook was sprinkling quantities of pepper into a kettle of soup and a Cheshire Cat sat on the hearth grinning from ear to ear at her. All three sneezed violently from time to time.

"Please go away—I don't like your grin," said Alice to the Cat. "All right," replied the Cat and vanished, beginning with the tail and ending with the grin—but the grin remained after the rest disappeared. To escape from this horrid grin Alice ran out of the house and into the wood closely pursued by the grin. Seeing a little door open leading into a big tree Alice slipped through and slammed the door behind her, shutting out the grin.

Turning about she at last found herself in the beautiful garden. Standing about a rose-tree near the entrance were three gardeners painting the white roses red. "Why are you doing that?" asked Alice. "Because," replied one, "the Queen does not fancy white roses." "Hush!" said another, "here comes the Queen now!"

Alice turned eagerly to behold the royal procession. There were soldiers with clubs, courtiers bedecked with diamonds and the royal children were ornamented with hearts. While in and out among them hopped the White Rabbit. Last of all came the King and Queen of Hearts. As the Queen came to Alice she stopped and asked, "My child, do you play croquet?" "Y-y-y-yes," stammered Alice much confused. "Then here is your mallet," replied the Queen handing Alice a live flamingo. Then the game began and such a crazy game of croquet Alice had never seen.

The croquet balls were live hedgehogs and the soldiers bent over to make the arches. Besides the ground was full of hummocks and ridges. All played at once. When Alice got ready to hit her ball with the flamingo's head, either the hedgehog would walk off, or the soldier making the arch would stand up to rest his back.

"How do you like the game?" asked a voice. Looking up Alice beheld the grin of the Cheshire Cat. Before she could answer the Cat's head appeared, but no more of it. "I don't like it at all," replied Alice dropping her mallet which at once flew off. The Cat turned to look at the King, who did not like being grinned at, and complained to the Queen, who ordered the Cat beheaded on the spot.

"That is all very well," said the King, "but I should like to know how it is possible to behead a cat which has no body?" While they were arguing the Cheshire Cat vanished, head, grin and all.

Alice went to look for her flamingo, but could not find it. When she returned all the players had gone to the Palace. Alice followed and entering found a trial in progress. The King and Queen sat on their throne hearing the evidence. The Knave of Hearts was being tried for stealing some tarts the Queen had made. Several witnesses testified, but they talked of everything else except the stolen tarts.

"What a silly trial!" thought Alice, nibbling absent-mindedly at a piece of mushroom she had left. Almost before she knew it she grew so tall her head bumped against the ceiling.

"Call the next witness!" commanded the King. "ALICE!" cried the White Rabbit. "But I don't know anything about the stolen tarts," protested Alice. "That's very important," remarked the King. "It's against the rules for a witness over a mile high to testify," said the Queen. "Leave this court at once!" ordered the King addressing Alice. "I shan't leave until I hear the verdict," retorted Alice. "In that case," said the King, "let the jury consider the verdict." Sentence first and verdict afterward," objected the Queen. "How absurd to have a sentence before a verdict!" said Alice scornfully.

"Off with that girl's head!" shouted the Queen pointing at Alice. "Will you please stoop down so I can carry out the Queen's orders?" asked the Royal Executioner politely. "No I won't!" cried Alice; "you are all nothing but a naughty pack of cards anyhow and I am not afraid of you."

Thereupon the whole pack rose up into the air and flew straight into Alice's face.

"Come, Alice dear, wake up," said her big sister, shaking her gently; "you've been sleeping nearly an hour and it's time to go home."

Then little Alice knew that her wonderful journey had been only a wonderful dream.

"The Scarlet Letter," by Hawthorne, as condensed by George S. Barton, will be printed tomorrow.

20 Indictments Returned By Jury

Twenty indictments were returned by the Allen county grand jury when it reported late Wednesday afternoon after a session of two days. Four of these indictments are public, while the others remain secret for the present. Sixty-nine witnesses were heard, 40 cases presented and 20 of these rejected.

H. D. Sanger, Jack Ford and Archie Manley were indicted for burglary and larceny. Those men were arrested November 1, in Marion charged with the theft of rare wines and whiskey from the cellar of Henry Keller at 1200 West Market street. When arranged in police court all pleaded not guilty to the charge and were bound over to the grand jury without a preliminary hearing.

Carl Zurcher was indicted for grand larceny. Zurcher pleaded guilty in police court of stealing $50 from an employee of the Cliff Wood Coal and Supply Company, police say.

LIMA DANCING MASTERS STRIVE TO ELLIMINATE WIGGLE DANCES

(BY JAMES F. BURSA)

Every year there are "bimbos" who spend a lot of "filthy lucre" to journey into strange lands and hunt for dead languages. Now, it's all very nice for them to do that, but it is beyond our ken why they travel so far, when dead languages may be picked up right here in Lima. What, you don't believe that? Well, it's easy enough to prove.

Since July 1, 1919, how many times have you heard the expression, "What'll you have?" Then now about this one, as you lean over the venerable pine, and kid the bartender by telling him to "put the collar on the bottom," or "wrap up a half a pint." We claim that is a dead language, and in about unpeeped years some old lad with whiskers so long that he does not need any collar, tie or shirt will write a book and tell of the language which once existed in this country.

ANOTHER DEAD ONE

However, the most recently slain language, is that connected with dance halls, alleged dance hall, and jazz emporiums, in and around Lima. Comes the information from a recent meeting of the National Association of Masters of Dancing to the effect that they have started a war on King Jazz and Queen Shimmy. That being the case, it's good-bye to that little phrase: "Minnie, come shimmy with me." To take its place will be a sign, written in box letters: "You can't shake that shimmy here."

If dancing is to be popular, the dancing masters declare, Shimmy and jazz must go. When grandma was a girl, the young folks danced, and according to her there were trappings of pleasures to be derived from dancing. Yet these folks danced with their feet. Can you picture grandma or grandpa out in the middle of the floor going through contortions which would make Gertrude Hoffman ashamed of herself? Imagine them first securing a strange hold upon each other then emerging from the crowd and "shaking a wicked h.p." Did they do that? No sir, you bet they did not, and we must repeat, they secured just as much pleasure from dancing as do these wrestling masters today, or at least they say so.

Remember Wrestling Match. The favorite pastime of the wall-eyes is wagering with each other upon whether the boy will win the girl, or vice-versa. Oh, in those days, when a boy danced, he would like to "shake a h.p." with a certain girl, he first went over and after much parley relative to the weather and other current events, got her off her guard, then quick, like a man asking for liquor with a kick in it, he politely asked her if he might have the pleasure of her company for the next dance. If his hair was sufficiently covered with bear tallow, and his boiled shirt where it be longed, grandma consented.

Quite Different Now. Does the young Ferdie, of the patent leather pumps, do that today? Nope. He stands out in the middle of the floor so as to give all the girls a treat by looking at him. He spies a lady fair with whom he imagines he would like to dance. His motions for one of his constituents to come hither, to whom he puts the question: "Say, who is that 'frail' setting over there with the seemore waist and the Irene Castle legs." He is answered, and then: "Zat so, well I goin' to haul her around the floor in the next one step."

Pronto, he goes over to the aforementioned young lady, and unlike grandma, this young buck does not know that we are having any weather. He says: "Hello there." The young lady stops chewing her gum long enough to answer him with a "Whajassay?" then the musicians start hammering on tin pans, cow bells, iron hoops or anything that make a loud crash and bang. Without further economy, the young Beau Brummel lifts the baby from the chair, and getting a firm grip upon her neck and waist, to all appearances, endeavors to throw her down. However, all sympathy for the maiden is lost when we watch her chew her gum, cast her eyes heavenward, and wiggle her—ears.

To Break it up. That is just what dancing instructors in Lima, who are members of the association, are going to endeavor to stop. They claim this sort of dancing has dragged the fair name of the terpsichorean art down to abysmal depths. They declare, these dances have done more to hurt real dancing than anything in the world for the average mother does not want her daughter to dance this way, and as a result the modern dancing parlours have been greatly hurt.

The dancing masters have laid down a set of rules which they have agreed they will strictly adhere to, the most important of which is Rule No. 7 and is as follows:

"Don't dance for the waist up; dance from the waist down. 'Or if you have never been an eye witness to this style of dancing, you may gather what they mean, when they say:

"So-called 'shimmy' dancing is a shaking or jerking of the upper body while taking short steps or standing still, and should not be tolerated. Short side steps, first right, then left, when done continuously are not conducive to refined dancing and should not be permitted. Teachers should not teach any steps or movements that cannot be controlled."

You may see from the above statement that a man or woman with the St. Vitus dance is very popular on the modern dance floor. If you strive to be a good shimmy dancer take lessons from a jelly fish.

Many Blame the Music

In the majority of instances, music is blamed for the dance of today. This is called jazz music was evidently originated by a man who could not read music, and who, nevertheless, desired to earn a living by keeping a lot of noise. The modern musicians, apparently, does not have to read notes if he has a strong and enduring arm which will allow him to throw bricks through windows, beat tin kettles, and keep as much unearthy noise as his fellow-workers.

One Lima dancing master says: "Cheap, vulgar music invites cheap, vulgar dancing. The association has decided that the following tempos should govern: Waltz, 48 measures to the minute; two-step, 54 measures to the minute; one step, 56 measures to the minute; fox trot, 40 measures to the minute. Fast dancing can not be properly regulated."

Don't Blame Men. He continues: "The man isn't always to blame for the cheek to cheek and the knee to knee dancing. The woman who permits it is as responsible, and both should be ejected from a public dance or requested to leave a private affair. Each should stand half to the right to that either may look over the other's right arm. Between the two there should be lots and lots of room. Arms should touch and not the bodies."

It is to this end that members of the dancing masters' association will strive. In fact, one prominent Lima dancing instructor sometime ago appeared before city council and asked that body to appoint a dance inspector, in an effort to curtail the modern shakes, and help the masters stem the tide of oncoming unruly light fantasies. However, council seemed to be content to let young Limaites enjoy themselves in this manner, so the entire affair is left to the dance instructor.

For a motto the dancing master might choose: "On with the dance but let joy be refined."

MARTINIQUE RUM BRINGS PROSPERITY TO LITTLE ISLAND

ST. PIERRE, MARTINIQUE.—The manufacture and sale of rum brought unusual prosperity to the little island of Martinique during the war. Hidden away among the West Indies this little French colony of 200,000 people so small that it is found with difficulty on most maps of the world, sent its sons overseas to fight for the motherland while the folks at home prospered by raising sugar, coffee, cocoa and manufacturing rum. This took place, too, during a period when prohibition was sweeping over America. Not only did the exports of this beverage increase from approximately 4,090,900 gallons in 1912 to 5,862,500 gallons in 1917, a gain of more than 40 per cent, but the value of the exports increased from approximately $2,385,000 in 1912 to $9,932,000 in 1917, a gain of about 215 percent.

Exports of sugar, however, decreased from 29,089 tons in 1913 to 20,487 tons in 1917. The production of sugar cane was increased during the same period but the islanders found it more profitable to use the product in the manufacture of rum than to export it. From 1914 to 1917 imports of molasses used in the manufacture of rum, increased from 1857 tons to 8,475 tons.

A COMPLETE CURE. Mrs. Ghostwalk had got the spiritualistic craze, and got into the habit of receiving messages from the departed when she sought to have been getting her husband's dinner. Hubby protested, and then he acted. In a week she was cured, and his friends marveled.

"How did you do it?" they asked him. "Oh," said he smilingly, "I got the craze, too, and every seance we went to I got a loving message from my first wife, see?"—London Answers.

If You Need a Medicine You Should Have the best

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfil the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medical preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited, to those who are in need of it.

A prominent druggist says "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root, a preparation I have sold for any years and never hesitate to recommend for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root is due to the fact, so many people claim, that it fulfills almost every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and troubles and neutralizes the uric bladder ailments, corrects urinary acid which causes rheumatism.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp Root by Parcel Post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention the Lima Times. Large and medium size bottles for sale at all drug stores.

PERIL TO THE STATE SEEN IN THE FEEBLE MINDED INCREASE

Gov. Cox After Conference With Experts Urges Need of Institutions.

ASYLUMS CROWDED

1,000 of Defective Mentality Are Now at Large in Ohio.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 20.—Plans inaugurated here, if followed out, will bring about a marked decrease in the number of feeble minded in Ohio.

This was the statement of Gov. Cox following a conference with members of the board of administration and mental specialists, in which the policy of the state toward its feeble-minded was discussed.

The conference bears the close relation to the problem of providing adequate funds which the general assembly must face at its coming session not only with respect to this particular class of state institutions but all governmental activities.

The governor indicated he would inquire into "weak" school districts, where insufficient funds have been provided for the maintenance of proper educational establishments, particularly to find how many such districts are in the mining sections and what valuation has been placed on lands in these districts for taxation purposes.

The governor declared himself of the opinion that laws to correct such conditions were already on the statute books.

Inquiry will also follow as to what increased revenue the state must be expected to raise.

"The statements made to me today about the number of feeble minded girls who are bearing children are astounding," the governor said at the close of the meeting.

state experts, said there are 1,000 feeble minded now at large in Ohio who would immediately pass into an institution if there were one available. Girls at the Delaware home, for instance, are released when they are 18 because there is no place provided for them by the state.

H. S. Riddle, chairman of the board of administration placed the number of feeble minded children in Ohio who should be in institutions, at 7,000, as a conservative estimate. He said the number would actually come closer to 15,000.

"We meant to inquire just what the real necessities were," Gov. Cox said. "We determined that no more money would be spent at the hospital for the theory that we have no business spending money there because there is no room for the institution to grow.

"We must, however, establish a new hospital for the insane in the northeastern part of Ohio. The land now occupied by the Newburg institution can be sold for between $250,000 and $300,000. It was also agreed the institution for the feeble minded at Orient, near Columbus, must immediately be increased to accommodate 3,000 inmates, instead of 2,000. This means by at least ten cottages.
